Hamburg the city where OOD works and grew up gives a whole lot of inspiration to creating music. just like any other forest or silent hill - mountain or desert. Just kidding - but tracks like Everything is here for You or Green Light push out the message of having it all just grab it spirit. Where tracks like Running Rushing Waiting follow the more living in the city don't stress me attitude. Whatever - this digital album is packed with unusual styles of recording. CAUTION don't fear lo-fi or think of a time where there was no high end mixing available. On the track CapaCity for example OOD took the smartphone recorded drums and a single (let's call it overhead mic) and used these two audio files only along strong vocal lines, an easy crunchy epiano and a reggae-fied bass line ...
